NEXT STATE CHAIRMAN WILL HAVE TO FIND $10,000

For Old Bills as Well as Raise Campaign Funds on the $200 Maximum Basis -Odeil Partisans Still Talking of Knifing the Ticket on Election Day.

Republicans began to speculate yesterday to Benjamin B. Odell, Jr.'s, successor as State chairman. The only new name presented was that of Representative Herbert Parsons, who has just won his renowned victory in New York county over the Odell-Quigg combination. It was said that Mr. Parsons would make a good State chairman, that he has had experience in local political affairs, and that as a Representative in Congress he is acquainted with State and national affairs. The Parsons m was not taken very seriously, though, upcountry Republicans, for the reason a Republican of more experience than Mr. Parsons would suit them better, and the two men who have been so prominently mentioned for several months for the place, Timothy L. Woodruff and William Barnes, Jr., were trotted out into the lime-

Should Gov. Higgins desire a renomination he would probably name the man to run his campaign, and recently the Governor has been very friendly to Mr. Woodruff, and somewhat more friendly to Mr. Barnes. If was very doubtful last night, in the estimation of Republicans, if Mr. Barnes would continue in his place as chairman of the xecutive committee of the State committee Mr. Woodruff is made chairman, for the reason that Mr. Barnes does not believe in any divided responsibility in the management of the campaign. In the old days the chairman of the executive committee of the State committee was an important person and consulted on all essential details of the campaign, but under Mr. Odell the executive chairman was little more than the ifth wheel of a coach.

Mr. Woodruff is wealthy, while Mr. Barnes not, and the next Republican State chairman, it was said at the Fifth Avenue Hotel last night, will be compelled to put his hand into his pocket down to his bootleg tops. There is a deficiency in the treasury of the Republican State committee amount-of the Republican State committee amounting to about $10,000 and the new chairman will have to clear that off. The Republican millionaires are known to be tickled beyond all expression by the new laws, Federal and State, which prohibit them from giving campaign funds. Individual contributions must be limited to $200.

The Odell Republicans continue to say privately that they will get even with President Roosevelt, Gov. Higgins, Mr. Parsons and Mr. Woodruff at the polls on election day. "All that talk about harmony on the part of Odell," said one of the retiring State chairman's adherents at the Fifth Avenue. Hotel last night, "was buncombe. He will look out to elect his own Senator and Assemblyman, is considering whether he will run for State Senator himself in the Orange district, and in other districts Odell's friends will try to elect Senators and Assemblymen and they won't care a rep for the State ticket. I am putting you wise; remember what I tell you.

There were plenty of other evidences that the Odell adherents are out with their linives. It is with them the rule or ruin policy. Many Republicans, though, said that Odell and his adherents didn't have sufficient following in the State to worry about.

National Committeeman W. L. Ward, the Republican leader of Westchester, formed a combination with Dutchess and ockland. The delegates fram Orange county did not present a candidate. The result was somewhat of a setback to those who had been saying that Odell would control the convention and that Ward would be forced to surrender the Westchester delegation to the State convention to him in order to obtain a nomination for West-

SLUMP IN HEARST BOOM.

Eric County Delegates May Be Solidly Against His Indorsement.

BUFFALO, Sept. 20 .- Following Norman E. Mack's repudiation of William R. Hearst and his declaration for Mayor James N. Adam as the Democratic nominee for Governor, the boom of the Independence League candidate took a decided slump here today. Much of Hearst's strength in this part of the State came through the support of the national committeeman, who has industriously promoted the fusion idea and warmly seconded Hearst's aspirations.

Mayor Adam's boom has proportionally assumed fresh strength. His followers, who would have been jubilant in any case, are doubly so because of the unequivocal and unmistakable terms in which the up-State leader dumped the man who once clung to him for support. When Mr. Mack said, in his letter to Mayor Adam, that if the con-vention nominated Hearst it "would be a lasting humiliation to the great Democratic party of this State," the Adam contingent and Democrats generally felt that the Independence League bugaboo had been very effectively dispelled as far as Buffalo is Altogether yesterday was a trying day for the Hearst men hereabouts. Not only was their leader flatly repudiated and roundly berated and another candidate put well forward in the running, but in the Assembly district convention. the Assembly district conventions they were routed at every turn. The county delegates who were elected are men who will be guided solely by the advice of leaders who have either been opposed to Hearst from the start or are now out with bitter denunciations of him. It is believed no delegate was elected here yesterday who would give even the most half-heaated support to the league candidate unless he were also named on the Democratic t—a contingency which, it is said here, no longer be considered.

SEESAW IN PRIMARY CASE.

Hines's Man Comisky Freed in Court, Then a Warrant Is Issued for Him. Deputy Attorney-General William Chilvers, who is prosecuting the men charged with illegal voting at the recent primaries, asked Magistrate Breen yesterday to give a second adjournment in the case of ex-City Marshal Charles Comisky of 61 Mott street, charged with casting a vote illegally in behalf of Michael Hines in the Eighteenth Election district of the First Assembly district. The Magistrate refused. He discharged Comisky but changed his mind and ordered him arrested again. When the case was called Joseph Bove of 83 Mulberry street, the complainant, was not in court. Mr. Chilvers asked to have the case go over for one day until he could bring Bove into court by an attachment if necessary.

"If he made this complaint on insufficient grounds he has been guilty of perjury and I want to proceed against him," said Mr.

Chilvers.

Magistrate Breen ordered the case to proceed. Comisky admitted having enrolled last fall from 152 Canal street but said he had moved to 61 Mott to live with an uncle within the legal limit to allow him to vote. Both addresses are in the same election district and Comisky is the district captain. He was the first man to vote and was promptly arrested on Bove's challenge. Magistrate Breen paroled him until yesterday. The policeman who made the arrest swore to having known Comisky as the captain of the district for years. On these statements the Magistrate dismissed the case. Later he received some private these statements the Magistrate dismissed the case. Later he received some private information which caused him to think that he might be mistaken. He ordered the case to be reopened this morning and sent a note by special messenger to Mr. Chilvers, telling him this. He also issued a warrant for the rearrest of Comisky and an attachment for Bove.

Comisky, while an election district captain for the ex-Republican leader, Michael Hines, defeated by Francis H. Orlando at the primaries, is holding a Tammany Hall job in the County Clerk's office under Peter J. Dooling.

It was also announced that a committee favoring the nomination of Sulzer would call by appoint ment upon Senator McCarren, leader of the Brooklyn Democracy, at 11 o'clock thismorning. GOV. HIGGINS UNDECIDED. Some of His Friends Urge Him to Annou

His Candidacy for Renomination. ALBANY, Sept. 20 .- Gov. Higgins had a ong conference at the Executive Mansion last night, which did not break up until early this morning, regarding plans for the Republican State convention, which meets at Saratoga next Tuesday. Those who talked with the Governor were William Barnes, Jr., Francis Hendricks of Syracuse, Railroad Commissioner George W. Aldridge, Secretary of State John P. O'Brien and . V. V. Franchot, the State Superintendent of Public Works.

They urged him to announce his candidacy for renomination. Gov. Higgins has unusual ideas regarding the attitude he should assume toward a renomination. He would like to have the nomination come to him apparently without any public expression or announcement on his part. In fact, he feels that his renomination, without any expression beforehand from him as to whether or not he would accept, would be a fitting climax to the opposition which he and his friends have evinced toward Chairman Odell since James W. Wadsworth was elected Speaker of the Assembly.

It is not yet decided whether, after a final conference on Saturday with his friends, the Governor should then make an announcement of his position or whether he should make no announcement until after the nomination is made. Meanwhile, the Governor declines to say yes or no to the repeated questions of the newspaper correspondents as to whether he is a candidate

Timothy L. Woodruff came to Albany tonight. He will remain here until he goes to Saratoga. Gov. Higgins, Mr. Woodruff and Mr. Barnes dined at the Fort Orange Club. The Governor was just as noncommital to Mr. Woodruff as he has been to his other advisers. A final conference of the Governor and his political friends will occur Sunday, when it is expected that the Governor will make some sort of an announcement of his plans.

Gov. Higgins has been so averse to taking a stand one way or the other that the question of who should be selected as the nominee should he decline to run again has been canvassed by the members of the Governor's kitchen cabinet. They are generally adverse to the nomination of a high class candidate of the type of Mr. Hughes solely on the ground that if elected he would have nothing in common with their political fortunes. The Governor's political advisers expressed the opinion to-day that they could name Lieut.-Gov. M. Lin- Bruce as the Republican nominee for Governor should Mr Higgins decline to run. They argue that he is tractable and would subserve what might be termed their vested political interests. They say that Mr. Bruce could make a fine campaign, that he is in the line of promotion and that some of the anti-Higgins machine men would be more favorable to him than to others that have been mentioned. About the only definite statement Gov. Higgins's friends will make is that they will be able to nominate any one they please if Gov. Higgins finally decides not to run. Inferentially they are opposed to any candidate who would not willingly become acclimated to the political atmosphere at the Capitol as it exists at present.

If Gov. Higgins runs again there seem to be an impression that the State ticket will be renominated except that new men will be named for Secretary of State and Comptroller. Senator Merten E. Lewis of Rochester has been mentioned for Comptroller. George W. Aldridge is very fond
